Most of us were attracted to Religious Science because we wanted to experience more freedom in our lives. We started attending church because we hoped we could attain freedom from fear, or freedom from want, or freedom to be ourselves and/or freedom to love. The first idea we heard was that we would have to change our thinking in order to change our lives.

Truth that sets us free is clearly stated every Sunday and in every class. Science of Mind is a perfect system for establishing a greater freedom in life. Soon, we also discover that we have to pay for that freedom with "mental and spiritual coin". In other words, we must be willing to change our thinking.

What Ralph Waldo Emerson says in his essay, Compensation is, "all the good of nature is the soul's and may be had if paid for in nature's lawful coin." What he means is that we must be willing to release our belief in circumstances and open ourselves up to greater possibility if we choose to be free.

Most of us believe too much in circumstances.

We tend to forget that with God, all things are possible and that we are always with God. We become chained to old habits of thinking and we become slaves to circumstances. Many of us keep those chains tight by telling ourselves stories about why we can't get there from here.

The stories vary according to our apparent circumstances but they always enslave in subtle ways. We say we would go back to college if we were not so old.

Personal Choice

Most years, I go home to Iowa for 4th of July. It is a weekend filled with a family reunion, a parade, an ice cream social, lazy hours floating on the lake and, of course, fireworks. Americana at it's finest. Patriotism brings out the joy of freedom in all of us. Whether it's seeing the flag waving or hearing the high school marching band, this is the month for freedom to ring for each and every one of us.

What does freedom mean to you? To some, Freedom is a cause, to others; Freedom is something to be defended. To our founder, Ernest Holmes, "Freedom means to eliminate from consciousness all those things which bind and limit the free flowing of the Divine Spirit through us and, at the same time, to exercise the faculty of personal choice."

How many times have we given up our personal choice to follow someone else's path?

We insist that we would travel the world if we didn't have to save for retirement. We declare we don't have friends because we have to work too hard. Our habits of thinking become a litany of negativity.

In truth, we are hypnotized by beliefs in limitation. We make excuses instead of pursuing our dreams. We wish for freedom and spend hours telling ourselves why we can't have it. We forget that we have to be willing to change our thinking if we are going to change our lives

If we want to be free, we must pay in mental and spiritual coin for that freedom. We must give up believing we are victims. We must watch what we are saying and thinking about the conditions in our lives. If we want to be free, we must release fear of the future. We must release guilt about the past. We must release whatever needs to be released so we can attain our good.

Our teaching is a spiritual practice. It must be used on a daily basis and our thoughts and actions must be directed in the direction of our dreams. If we want more friends, we need to stop telling ourselves that no one loves us and begin reaching out with love to others. If we want more money we should stop telling ourselves that we don't have enough and start giving in gratitude to our church. If we want a college education, we need to enroll in a class. We should take the steps that move us toward our goals. Negative emotions paralyze and nothing energizes like purposeful activity.

Emerson said, "Do the thing and you shall have the power; but they who do not the thing have not the power."

Dr. Jane

It is logical and right that we should have what we need in this world, and we should feel that our supply is limitless.

- Ernest Holmes

To follow someone else's advice and not that of our heart? Dressing based on fashion and not on personal style? At one time or another, we have all given up our personal choice to fit in. When we remember that God is expressing through us and as us, we are empowered to exercise our freedom. Listening to our hearts ensures we are in fact following our own drummer.

To me, Freedom is knowing that I can make personal choices without judgment; self judgment as well as the judgment of another. It is in knowing that the beat of my drum maybe be different than yours but together, the harmony is wonderful. Freedom is expressing my love, showing my appreciation and sharing my time, talent and treasures with whomever and whatever makes my heart sing. In short, Freedom is in my heart and as I open my heart, I am opening up the world to a bit more freedom.

Join us this month as we look at freedom from within, connecting to our real source and celebrating along the way. In addition to Sunday service, join us for a Wednesday Power Hour from 7-8.

I won't be in Iowa this 4th, but freedom will be ringing with every choice I make.

And so it is!

- Rev. Debby

This I Believe

What I know for certain is that Divine Love governs the universe. There are 6.6 billion people on this planet and they are all born out of the same Infinite Divine Love Consciousness. People are born into various cultures with different sounding languages, yet humans have a common origin as the reflection of Divine Love. All humans are the image and likeness of God. The beliefs that separate "them" from "us" are their individual and cultural interpretations of their perception of reality. In Truth we are never separated from our inner Goodness or God. Ernest Holmes declared; "We live and move and have our being in Infinite Mind." When people are raised in a culture of fear and separation from their greater good they lose faith in their wholeness and perfection. They become lost from their Divine Self.

Our human senses project life as imperfect reality. Our Infinite Mind projects Life as whole well and perfect. Jesus proclaimed; "It is done unto you as you believe." Every day we awaken to a new opportunity to believe our world is imperfect or perfect. Why would we choose to live in an imperfect reality when we were born as the image and likeness of Divine Love! Let us claim our spiritual heritage, by awakening to our Divine Love Universe.

Practitioner Corner- Giving with Love

There is joy in giving.
There is love in giving.
There is satisfaction in giving.

I believe in giving so that I can have space for something new and rewarding to enter my life.

It is a blessing to extend a helping hand without a price to those whom I love and give to the ones who love me. I truly believe and practice this way of life.

It gives me peace:

Give to the unfortunate.
Give to a worthy cause.
Give a smile to everyone you meet.
Give a kind word and you will receive kindness in return.

I envision a time when all of us at the Center for Positive Living tap into the wonderful feelings that you receive when you volunteer and enjoy the powerful abundance that comes from tithing to our Center.

Truly, I am wiser today than I was yesterday. Everything on my path is a joyful learning experience. With this joyous feeling and gratitude as my wake-up call everyday, I have God in my life and I know God does the work.

Facilitator Training – Wise Women Don't Worry, Wise Women Don't Sing the Blues

Dr. Jane Claypool is offering a Wise Woman Facilitator Training on July 27 & 28 in her home in Olivenhain. The weekend trains women to lead Wise Women groups and includes a curriculum filled with workshop ideas and exercises. The materials and experiences are all based on her book, Wise Women Don't Worry, Wise Women Don't Sing The Blues. (Book is available in the church bookstore.) Cost for the Facilitator training is $500. Women who have already trained once may repeat the weekend for half price and those who are taking it for the third time or more are welcomed on a love-offering basis. A certificate of completion is awarded.

Many women who have taken the training have incorporated the curriculum into their other work as teachers, counselors or workshop leaders. Wise Women groups are held in diverse locations including college campuses, churches, bookstores and private homes. There are several women leading Wise Women groups currently and Rev. Lisa Stewart of Milwaukee, WI is also qualified to train facilitators.

If you are interested, please contact Dr. Jane as soon as possible. Space is limited and she reserves the right to select the women who can take the training.

Summer 101 Power Series of Abundant Living: July is all about Feelings

CPL is the place to be on Wednesday nights. In just 1 hour, we inform, shape and inspire a positive and abundant approach to living. Filled with sharing and exercises, you are sure to benefit. Here is what is coming up;

July 11, 18 and 25: Feeling the Feeling. This Power Series will allow us to uncover our true feelings, provide techniques to empower the positive, release the negative and celebrate the abundance of life. Get ready to make room for more of the Good, which is, meant for each of us.

August 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29: 5 Steps to Successful Living. This Power Series will put "The Secret" into action in your life through acknowledging where the Power is, your connection with that Power, claiming your good, releasing the fear and blessing the process as well as the result. Let the Abundance continue.
